

A CONVERSATION ON EARLY PRINT CULTURE:
HILARY BERNSTEIN AND PATRICIA FUMERTON
PRESENT THEIR NEW BOOKS
FRIDAY, MAY 28TH, NOON - 1:30 PM. PST (ZOOM).
CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

Historical Communities

Cities, Erudition, and National Identity in Early Modern France

Hilary J. Bernstein

SCIENTIFIC AND LEARNED CULTURES AND THEIR INSTITUTIONS

Series Editor

MORDECHAI FEINGOLD

BRILL

The Broadside Ballad in Early Modern England

Moving Media, Tactical Publics

Patricia Fumerton

Historical Communities is part of Brill's MyBooks program.

Order online from UPenn Press for a 20% discount! Code PP20

Hilary Bernstein, Associate Professor of History, specializes in early modern France, with a particular focus on the history, culture, and politics of provincial towns in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Professor Bernstein will be introduced by Professor Erika Rappaport.

Patricia Fumerton is Distinguished Professor of English, specializing in popular, multimedia print culture, with a focus on broadside ballads, 1550-1750; she is also

Director of the NEH-funded English Broadside Ballad Archive (EBBA), ebba.english.ucsb.edu. Professor Fumerton will be introduced by Professor Andrew Griffin.

Please contact EMC Fellow, Anita Raychawdhuri with any questions at araychawdhuri@ucsb.edu